

ADHD Referral pathway

If you require a child to be referred for an ADHD referral this is the current pathway.

The parents will need to decide which provider they want to have their child referred to and to make this decision is their choice and GPs do not have the capacity to advise on this.

As the parents Right to Choose they will need to access the relevant referral form from the providers platform. Parents need to complete the form themselves and if this requires GP sign off they will need to send into practice and we sign post this to registered GP.

Once signed the practice admin staff will email to provider. Beyond this any queries from parents will be with their chosen provider.

Some providers such as Pscion have a GP online form - in this circumstance the patient would make contact with the practice and we can pass the request to registered GP.

The practice are not able to book appointments for discussing ADHD/Autism.

Parents will need to decide which service provider they would like to go with and all forms must to be completed by parents and given to registered GP to be signed and then emailed to the provider.
